MATTY GARRISON, NEW IN ADMISSIONS
At right, the College of Charleston faculty-mentor program in art with student art director Renee Grimes. The program pairs students with professionals to provide guidance and mentorship. The program is funded by a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts. Grimes is majoring in studio art and graphic design. She is the second student to receive the opportunity. The program is open to all students at the College of Charleston. For more information, contact the Office of Undergraduate Admissions at 843-953-8380.

CHARLIE JENKINS
LOUISE JINANG
SCOTT LANDMANN
KEEPS TO ACCEPTING THE GREENWICH Gap FOR CHARLESTON

HURLING TOURNEYS
Charleston Hurling Club has taken centre stage in America hurling tours for the season. The club has been invited to participate in hurling tournaments in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., and Chicago. The club is currently preparing for a tournament in New York on Saturday, March 26. The tournaments are a great opportunity for the club to showcase its skills and promote the sport of hurling.

What are CofC faculty up to?
Cara Delany, History, has been researching a book on the Black Lives Matter movement. Delany has been working with a team of researchers to gather information and interviews from key figures in the movement. The book will be published later this year.

PATRICK NEILSON LYNCH, THIRD CATHOLIC BISHOP OF CHARLESTON
Sheridan M. White, Ph.D. andSDL, C. E. Hand, former editors of the Charleston Catholic Register, have written a book on the history of the Catholic Church in Charleston. The book will be published later this year.

MARK SONG’S LONG SUMMER COURSE
Babs Griffiths, a geography student from CofC, and other students from across America have been teaching the College’s long summer course, focusing on coastal restoration.

GROWING FOR: Celery Growers in the Low Country
The Charleston Hurling Club has raised $1,500 for the Charleston Hurling Club. The club will use the money to purchase new equipment, including a new hurley and a set of 100 hurleys. The club will also use the money to purchase new uniforms.

CELTIC ARTS SERIES AT PICCOLO SPOTTO
I lead the stomachs from the Charleston restaurant and bar Piccolo Spotto. I, along with my friends and contacts in the local Celtic community, have been working to promote the Celtic Arts Series at Piccolo Spotto. The series will be held on Wednesdays and Saturdays at the restaurant.

IRISH AND IRISH AMERICAN STUDIES
An exciting opportunity is available for students majoring in Irish and Irish American Studies. The College of Charleston has partnered with the Irish American Cultural Institute to offer a study-abroad program in Ireland. The program will allow students to study the history, culture, and language of Ireland.

BACKGROUND PICTURE
The background picture is of the College of Charleston campus. The picture was taken during the spring semester of 2023.